

THE STOREY (GALLERY)

1

Duplication NA11

Duplication transforms portraits and voices from people connected to Lancaster into a large-scale projection. The artwork explores how technology can record, reproduce and manipulate our identities, inviting audiences to question what happens when the boundary between authentic and artificial becomes increasingly difficult to recognise in everyday life. Inspired by the cybersecurity research of Dr Justin Lo, Lancaster University.

THE STOREY (MUSIC ROOM)

1

Zero Knowledge Ronan Devlin

Zero Knowledge is an immersive, interactive artwork where each audience member secretly contributes words to a shared constellation. Together, these anonymous contributions form fleeting visual poetry, showing how we can connect and create shared digital experiences without giving up our identity or personal information. Inspired by the cybersecurity research of Dr Zhipeng Wang, University of Manchester.

THE STOREY GARDENS

Puddles idontloveyouanymore

Puddles is a new interactive artwork by the artists that brought a waterfall to The Priory, a river to Church Street, and Lancaster's beating hearts to The Storey Gardens. Step into the puddles and let your footsteps send waves of light across each one.

A Light Up Lancaster, Illuminate Oldham & Light Night Wigan co-commission.

LANCASTER CASTLE

3

Sandcastle leo&hyde / 2099 Will Be Fine

What if Lancaster Castle was actually just one HUGE sandcastle? This joyful and playful new projection piece is a reminder to enjoy every moment we have - before the castle comes crashing down. With humour, heart and a soundtrack that'll cling to you like sand between your toes, it's a reminder that nothing we build lasts forever, but that shouldn't make the building of it any less fun!

LANCASTER PRIORY

Dear Earthling... imitating the dog with James Hamilton

When, in 1997 astronaut Jerry Linenger left earth, leaving behind his baby son, he wrote a series of letters home. Funny, moving, thoughtful, these letters offer a small insight into an extraordinary experience. Festival favourites, imitating the dog, bring their newest projection work, combining live music, spectacular visuals and live performance.

80 CHURCH STREET

5

Street Aquarium Marge Bradshaw

Street Aquarium transforms familiar architecture into a magical underwater world - luminous, dreamlike and visible only after dark. Made from hundreds of hand-printed cyanotypes, this playful animation invites you to take time out, relax, and watch as ghostly fish shimmer and drift by. Contains some flashing and strobing light effects.

ROAMING

Raving With Power Ludus Dance

Featuring moments of lightsaber-like torchlight and powerful unison movement, Raving With Power explores what power can look and feel like for young people today. Together, we believe we can create a powerful optimism that knows no boundaries!

THE WATERWITCH, CANAL

Crystal Tide Anne Bennett

A mirrored lighthouse rises among towering crystal shards, catching daylight before glowing with the colours of the Northern Lights after dark. Reflections, sound and drifting mist continually reshape the landscape. Inspired by melting ice caps and rising seas, Crystal Tide reveals the fleeting beauty and fragility of our changing world.

Animals

Ivo Opl and Suren Manvelyan: ARTshifters (Czech Republic and Armenia)

Hidden in the trees, 40 recycled smartphones become the eyes of the wild. Animals react to your presence — grow quiet and a Caiman's gaze holds steady; get loud and it vanishes, gone in a blink. A fleeting, watchful encounter with 16 species, here only as long as you are.

THE CANAL

14

Fish Are Jumping Studio Toer (Netherlands)

Splash. You look. Too late. Nope. There it goes. Splash. YES!! I saw it.

Fish are Jumping is an interpretation of fish that sometimes catch our attention by jumping above the water.

An ode to the little simple surprises in life.

WHITE CROSS, CANAL

13

Damselflies Rubbish Artist Tracey Graham

This installation is a response to how human activity affects our waterways through habitat loss, pollution, and climate change. At its heart is the damselfly, an endangered species in the UK whose fragile existence reflects the wider challenges facing our ecosystems.

WILLIAMSON PARK

Garden of Shadows Jony Easterby

A trail of 9 artworks featuring animated landscapes sourced from grassland and forest, hedgerows, bonsai trees given the gift of scale, woodland sprites and slo-mo flying creatures. The audience is invited to follow a trail of installations that fill the park with a series of ethereal electronic animated encounters with the natural world. See Garden of Shadows artworks overleaf.

THE GREGSON

Why I Walk Ash Murphy, Lancashire Youth Challenge and Global Link DEC

Why I Walk is a collection of stories from across the world exploring migration, movement and the journeys that shape our lives. Through projected imagery, recorded voices and an original musical score, stories from across the world are brought to life through a striking installation of illuminated suitcases.

MOOR SPACE

Noctilucent Nurul Wardani

Noctilucent is an installation that explores the perception of volume in space through light, atmosphere and movement. Using projected light within haze, the work creates shifting forms that occupy space, inspired by natural patterns and atmospheric phenomena.

A Light Up The North SHINE artwork.

DALTON SQUARE

9

Pig Farm Ladislav Sutnar: ARTshifters (Czech Republic)

Meet Pig Farm — a joyful herd of glowing, upcycled pigs. Hop on, set them swaying, tap their backs and watch the light shift from soft white to vibrant pink. A fleeting flash of colour and laughter, Sutnarka's playful sculptures show how discarded water barrels can spark momentary magic.

SECRET INSTALLATION

We've hidden a secret artwork in a secret garden - can you find it?
